The Beatitudes

Jesus tells us in the sermon on the mount in Matthew 5:7 that Blessed are the Merciful for they shall receive mercy. Later, Peter asks Jesus about forgiveness and mercy for others. Jesus then tells his disciples a parable about the unforgiving servant to help them understand mercy and forgiveness.

Blessed are the Merciful... (Matt 5:7, Matt 18:21-35)

One time, Peter asked Jesus how many times he should forgive his brother who does something wrong against him. Should he forgive him seven times? (Seven was considered an important amount and complete by the Jews.) But Jesus told him up to seven times seventy. (Which would be 490 times. But Jesus didn't mean an actual number, He meant as often as it was needed to forgive someone.) Then he explained with the following parable:

There was a king who called all his servants to him to settle their debts with him. One of the king's servants owed the king a great deal of money. However, he did not have the money to pay the king, so he asked the king to be patient and give him more time to repay the debt. The king felt bad, or had mercy, for his servant and told him he did not have to repay the money. The entire debt was forgiven.

Once the servant left, he went looking for a worker who owed him a very small amount of money. The worker begged him to be patient. But the servant, who had just been forgiven by the king, had this man thrown in jail. When the king heard how unkind his servant had been to the worker, he was angry. He told his servant, "Shame on you for treating your debtor this way, after all I did for you. Now you will go to jail, and you will pay me everything you owed me."

The king had mercy on his servant until the servant no longer shared that mercy with others. Mercy is undeserved or unearned forgiveness. But Jesus shows us that forgiveness or mercy is something we should have for others whether it is deserved or not. Everyone at some time has done something wrong and needs forgiveness. Jesus teaches that as we have mercy and forgive others Jesus will have mercy on us and forgive us. However, if we are like the unforgiving servant and do not forgive others then Jesus will not have mercy on us and forgive us when we have done wrong.

The Unforgiving Servant

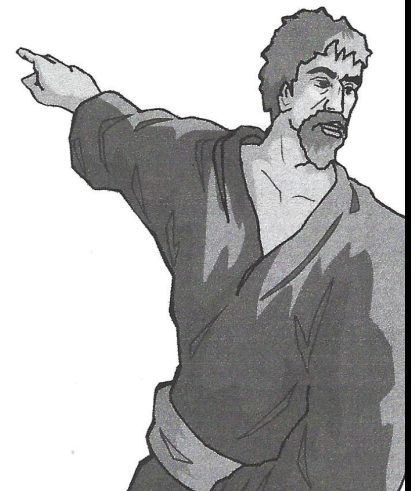

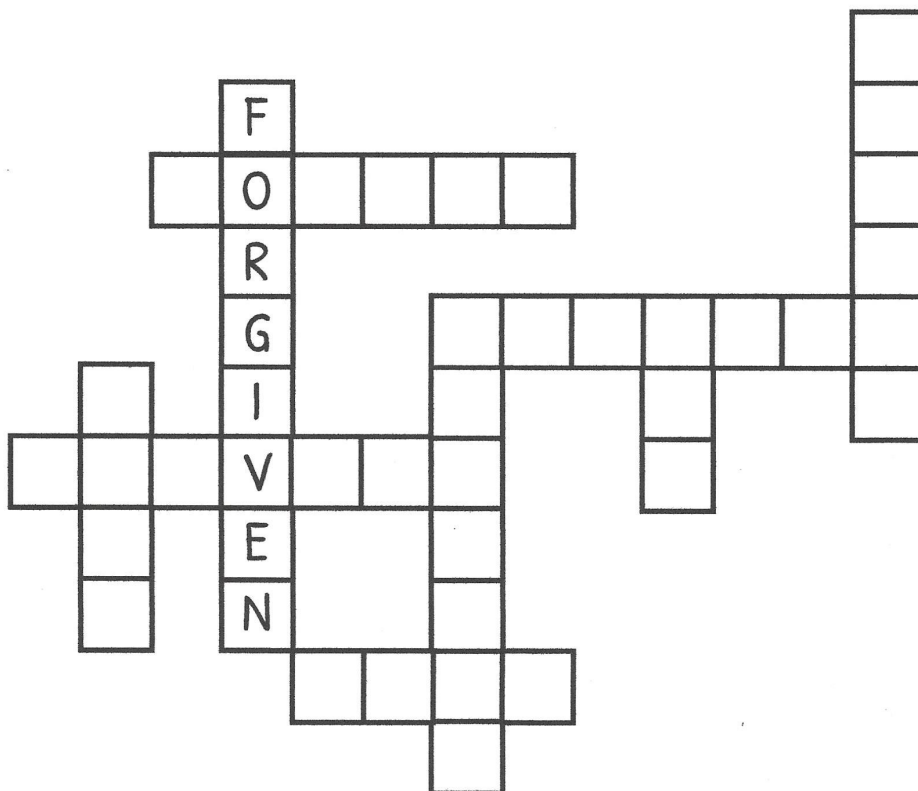

Read the parable of the two debtors told by Jesus in Matt 18:23-33 .
Then put the gray words from the parable into the crossword puzzle.

One of the king's servants owed the king a great deal of money. However, he did not have the money to pay the king, so he asked the king to be patient and give him more time to repay the debt. The king felt bad for his servant and told him he did not have to repay the money. The entire debt was forgiven.

Once the servant left, he went looking for a worker who owed him a very small amount of money. The worker begged him to be patient. But the servant, who had just been forgiven by the king, had this man thrown in jail.

When the king heard how unkind his servant had been to the worker, he was angry. He told his servant, "Shame on you for treating your debtor this way, after all I did for you. Now you will go to jail, and you will pay me everything you owed me."

What good lessons we can learn from this parable. First, to treat others the way we would like to be treated, and second, to have a loving and forgiving heart.
